A LOOK INTO OUR FUTURE

by Sally Wingler, THA President

HAPPY FALL YOU ALL!

It is hard to believe that we are now in the last quarter of the year 2021. With that in mind, I thought it would be a good time to take a look into our future. What can the Tennessee Hereford Association do to revive and renew its members and maintain the youthful zest and enthusiasm that is so necessary to growth and progress?

More than a hundred years ago, Oliver Wendel Holmes, an American poet, who most of us have studied, shared this bit of wisdom. The great thing in this world is not so much where we stand, as in what direction we are moving. We must sail sometimes with the wind and sometimes against it, but we must sail and not drift nor lie at anchor. We are the captain of destiny therefore, we must steer clear of obstacles that contribute to the slowdown and stagnation that accompanies aging and maturation.

We know of firms that are “on their toes” and others “that are in a rut”. Universities know of departments that are enjoying exceptional vitality while others have gone to seed. When organizations are young they are flexible and willing to try anything. As the organization ages, vitality diminishes, flexibility gives way to rigidity and there is a loss of capacity to meet challenges from other directions. In the ever renewing society what matters is a framework within which continuous innovation, renewal and rebirth can occur.

First we must realize that people make cattle, cattle do not make people. The Hereford breed is the result of what people have done to it. Generally speaking, progress has been made as the result of man’s thinking and planning. The Tennessee Hereford Association must be accountable to its members, accessible to the people it serves, and responsive to the change and needs of the industry.

Membership involvement is the key to keeping an organization vibrant and alert. All members must be made to feel that they are a vital part of the plans and purposes. The organization must be open and honest with its members. The least member must have the same voice and access as the strongest or largest.

The breed association must be everybody’s experience. Rules must apply to all, but the fewer rules the better the organization can function in harmony and cooperation. Accounts must be open and records accessible. Leaders must have the complete confidence of its membership in its integrity and its motives. An important philosophy in the continued growth of an organization is that the idea lives on.

The greatest and most genetically efficient breed developed will only continue to be so if the leadership remains the confidence of the public and its credibility with the industry. As much as the future of the Hereford breed is totally in the hands and minds of the breeders, a logical, workable, and efficient organization is the key to breed success. One of the greatest mistakes made by an organization is to invest all authority in the Board of Directors. In order for an organization to function efficiently, authority must be delegated so decisions may be made expediently within the breed framework of policy established by a board of elected leaders.

The goal of the Tennessee Hereford Association should be to develop and perpetuate a breed of cattle that will economically meet the needs and desires of the consumers. Recognizing the fact that consumer needs are ever subject to change requires a breed association to be alert and sensitive to the need of changing standards and breed objectives. A study of the beef industry has taught us many things, but the impressive lesson we have learned is that breeds that have resisted have become extinct or at best of secondary importance, while those that have sinned changing needs and adapted to change have grown and prosper. Today records are available so buyers of commercial animals and replacement seed stock can obtain specific information. Therefore, the cattlemen are swayed more by the true economic values and traits that relate to volume and value of product. Once the primary values are established then the secondary aim is to determine how the breed can be preserved without affecting the function of production efficiency.

This article is intended to stimulate some thought and inspiration for the Tennessee Hereford Association, because I would like it to be the very best. Thank you for being one of its members.

NJHA Faces of Leadership

Tennessee had five representatives at this year's Faces of Leadership Conference. The Tennessee attendees were Sarah Cate Orr, Foster Wingler, Libby Rushton (NJHA Director), Mason Collins, and Sarah Beth Callicott. Eighty-one Juniors from twenty-two different states attended the event in Oklahoma City, Okla.

The group attended a variety of leadership workshops and group sessions that were designed to help them find their why, become a better version of themselves and "Improve You." Other highlights included side trips to Express Ranches and the Oklahoma National Stock Yards.

Special Recognition

Julie Chapin

Jeremiah Malone

The Covid pandemic sidelined the traditional THA Annual meeting and awards banquet this year. The Tennessee State Fair provided a venue to recognize two of our members that have went above and beyond.

Julie Chapin and Jeremiah Malone have dedicated themselves to the improvement of our association and to promoting the Hereford breed.

Julie Chapin of River Circle Farm from Hartsville, Tenn., was recognized as the 2021 THA Legacy Award winner. Julie has been instrumental in the establishment of the merged THA and the growth of our organization. We will learn more about Julie in the February issue in a feature article.

Jeremiah Malone, Lawrenceburg, Tenn., was recognized for his time as President of the THA. Malone served as President from 2019-2021.

Tennessee at The 2021 VitaFerm® Junior National Hereford Expo, a Hereford Spectacular

Sixteen Tennessee Juniors were among the 1,385 entries from 40 states at the 2021 NJHE in Kansas City, Missouri this past July. Members participated in various competitions, had time for fellowship and finally, exhibited their cattle.

The Tennessee delegation consisted of Elleigh Baker, Maggie Baker, Sarah Beth Callicott, Ella Callicott, Bristol Cherry, Sydney Cherry, Mason Collins, Braxton Cox, Grant Funderburk, Ethan Hopkins, Sara Cate Orr, Emma Rushton, Libby Rushton, Mary Carter Shirley, Lauren Wingler and Foster Wingler.

Two Tennessee Juniors were named finalists for the Junior Herdsman of the Year. Ethan Hopkins of Manchester and Emma Rushton of Waverly. Hopkins went on to win the national honor.

Libby Rushton received a $1,000 NOP Scholarship. The NOP Founders Scholarship is special in that it honors the women who laid the foundation for the National Organization of Poll-ette's, which was organized in 1965.

The group also did well in the showring. Tennessee Juniors had several first place animals. Three of these went on to win in their respective divisions:

-Bred & Owned Bull Division III reserve champion, Mason Collins with CN Stimulus 518H by EXR Bankroll 8130 ET.

-Bred & Owned Female Division 1 reserve champion, Emma Rushton, with HAF 7437 Anna Lee 1133ET by H Montgomery 7437 ET.

-Owned Polled Female Champion Division VII, Ethan Hopkins with H Kelly 9160 ET by H Deberard 7454 ET.

Hopkins Named Hereford Junior Herdsman of the Year

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Ethan Hopkins, Winchester, Tenn., was honored as the 2021 Hereford Junior Herdsman of the Year on July 9 during the 2021 VitaFerm® Junior National Hereford Expo (JNHE), Hereford Spectacular, in Kansas City, Mo.

He was awarded a $2,500 scholarship sponsored by the Hereford Youth Foundation of America (HYFA) and Sullivan Supply. Hopkins is the son of Roy and Kim Hopkins and plays a key role in his family's Hereford operation alongside his brothers who are the fourth generation.

Ethan is involved in every step of their operation from breeding decisions to entering the show ring. He was excited to be a candidate for the junior herdsman award because he has looked up to many past herdsman winners.

Ethan recalls the 2020 Junior National Hereford Expo as the most memorable JNHE for his family because he won his first division and was nominated for herdsman. Ethan says, "When we started out, we were at the bottom of the class and putting in the work towards our goal showed our work paid off."

Tennessee had two representatives in the Junior Herdsman of the Year competition. Ethan Hopkins and Emma Rushton of Waverly, Tenn. were named finalists for the award.
