Looking Ahead A Message from the President

—Josh Mansfield, Tennessee Hereford Association President

As we turn the page to a new year, I couldn't be more excited about what's ahead for the Tennessee Hereford Association. We're working hard to make strategic changes within the organization—changes we hope will encourage more breeders to get involved, open up new advertising opportunities, and ultimately, drive greater interest in the Hereford breed across Tennessee and the surrounding states.

Our goal is simple: grow our membership, strengthen our reach, and continue promoting the unmatched value and versatility of Hereford cattle. Whether you're a longtime breeder or someone just getting started, we want THA to be a valuable resource and a welcoming community for you.

I'd also like to take a moment to extend a heartfelt thank you to all of the generous sponsors who donated to the Tennessee Junior Hereford Association (TJHA). Your support made a huge impact at Junior Nationals, which wrapped up just this past Friday. Thanks to your contributions, we were able to provide breakfast, lunch, and supper for our juniors and their families throughout the event. The entire experience was seamless—nobody had to worry about grabbing breakfast before heading to the barn or finding dinner late at night after a long day. It was one less thing for our families to stress about, and it made a world of difference.

To our sponsors: THANK YOU! You made it possible for our young people to focus on showing their cattle, building friendships, and making memories.

Here's to a year of growth, connection, and continued success for Hereford breeders across our state and beyond.

Warm regards,

Josh Mansfield

The Gary Preston Family, 2025 THA Family of the Year

One of the special traditions of the Tennessee Hereford Association is to recognize the Family of the Year.

The 2025 recipient is the Gary Preston family. Gary, who has dedicated his life to agriculture and the Hereford breed, is a graduate of Tullahoma Central High School and has been farming in Middle Tennessee for over 40 years.

Alongside his wife, Gail, to whom he has been married for 45 years. They have raised two children: Rhiannon (husband Daniel), and Bret (wife Stacey). They are also the proud grandparents of Lucas and Jacob, both of whom are actively involved in the Tennessee Junior Hereford Association and Coffee County 4-H. Following in their father's footsteps, Rhiannon and Brett were both involved in the Tennessee Junior Hereford Association and their local 4-H club while growing up.

Gary's journey with Hereford cattle began in the early 1980s. His brother-in-law Chris Anderson, influence him to purchased his first commercial Hereford. Shortly after, he acquired his first registered Hereford from Houston Parker. Over the years, he expanded his herd by purchasing cattle from Walker Hereford Farm, Parker Bros, and High Ridge Farm.

He owns and leases 500 acres of farmland and manages a herd of approximately 100 head of cattle. The herd includes 50 registered Herefords and the rest are commercial Angus or baldies. Gary and his son, Bret, are providing most of the labor. The herd is managed to increase the bottom line, they produce and bale their own hay, supplement with commercial Tennessee Farmer's Co-op feed and distillery syrup from the nearby Jack Daniel's plant as needed.

When asked about choosing genetics for his herd, he replied "It's not too popular lately, but I like some Victor influence in my cows. I just think it helps in our environment. We are selling pounds, not names. That being said, my son Bret has been going the show calf route in selecting his genetics. He is breeding some of the registered cows with bulls selected with help from the Hopkins boys."

Preston farm sells most of their calves through the Tennessee Hereford influence sale in Columbia. The calves are weaned and then backgrounded to a target weight of 700–900 pounds. They also sell some steers to friends for freezer beef and a limited number of heifers are sold private-treaty.

When asked about his favorite Hereford memories, Gary said, "When Bret was showing calves, we had a class winner and division runner-up at the Southeastern Region with a calf we had raised. Also, when my niece Lauren won the Tennessee Beef Expo was a good one. I also enjoy watching my grandsons and Lauren's daughters showing their calves."

Gary has several people that have influenced his decisions and provided guidance in the Hereford Industry. He says "Chris Anderson would always be first in this list, he and his family have been in the Hereford business a long time. Other breeders I respect their cattle and advice are: Norman Davis, David Parker, Johnny Woolfolk, and Eric Walker. Many years of experience in this group."

Gary has played a vital role in the Hereford Influence Sale in Columbia, serving as the Tennessee Hereford Association Committee Chairman. His leadership and dedication extend beyond this role, as he has served on the board of directors for both the Tennessee Hereford Association and the Middle Tennessee Hereford Association. Additionally, he is an active member of the Tennessee Cattlemen's Association and currently serves on the Moore County Farm Bureau Board of Directors.

Beyond his passion for cattle, Gary enjoys spending time with his grandchildren, whether cheering them on at ball games or supporting them in cattle shows. In addition to his contributions to the agricultural industry, Gary dedicated over 40 years of service at AEDC Arnold Air Force Base in Tullahoma, Tennessee, working in maintenance and construction before finishing his career at the water treatment plant.

The Tennessee Hereford Association congratulates Gary and the Preston Family!

Tennessee Hereford Queen Q&A with Lauren Wingler

Can you tell us about yourself and your background?

My name is Lauren Wingler, and I'm a proud fourth-generation Hereford breeder from Christiana, Tennessee. I grew up on my family's farm, Cedar Forest Farm, where we run a registered cow/calf operation. From an early age, I was surrounded by cattle and the agricultural way of life, attending my first Junior National Hereford Expo when I was just ten years old. Over the years, I've become deeply involved in both 4-H and the Tennessee Junior Hereford Association, where I currently serve as President. I'm also honored to serve as the 2025 Tennessee Hereford Queen. These roles have taught me leadership, responsibility, and the importance of advocating for agriculture. I am a recent graduate of Eagleville High School, and I plan to attend the University of Tennessee at Martin to major in Agricultural Communications, with the goal of becoming an agriculture attorney to help protect and support farmers and ranchers across rural America.

How did you get involved in the Hereford industry?

I was born into the Hereford industry—literally. My family has raised registered Hereford cattle for four generations, and I attended my first Junior National Hereford Expo when I was just ten years old. Growing up on Cedar Forest Farm in Rutherford County, I was always by my brothers' side, whether we were checking cows, working calves, or preparing for a show. Watching my family's dedication to the breed inspired me from a young age to become actively involved myself. As I got older, I began showing cattle, joining 4-H, and participating in the Tennessee Junior Hereford Association. What started as a family tradition has grown into my own personal passion, and I'm proud to continue the legacy of promoting and improving the Hereford breed.

Why did you decide to run for THA Queen?

I decided to run for Tennessee Hereford Association Queen because I wanted to give back to the breed and community that has shaped me into the person I am today. Growing up in the Hereford industry, I looked up to past queens who carried themselves with grace, leadership, and passion. They inspired me to be involved, work hard, and believe in the power of agriculture. Now, it's my turn to be that role model for younger juniors. I saw this opportunity as a way to represent Tennessee with pride, promote the Hereford breed at a higher level, and use my voice to connect with breeders, youth, and the public. Being THA Queen allows me to combine my love for Herefords with my passion for leadership and advocacy.

What do you hope to accomplish as the THA Queen?

As the 2025 Tennessee Hereford Association Queen, I hope to serve as a positive role model and enthusiastic advocate for the Hereford breed across our state and beyond. My goal is to encourage more youth to get involved in agriculture and show them the value of being part of the Hereford family. I want to represent Tennessee with pride at events like state fairs, field days, and national shows, while also building stronger connections between junior members, breeders, and industry leaders. Most importantly, I hope to inspire the next generation—just as past queens inspired me—to step into leadership, stay involved, and carry on the legacy of the Hereford breed.

What is your favorite Hereford memory?

My favorite Hereford memory has to be attending my first National Junior Hereford Expo (JNHE) in 2017—when I was just 10 years old. I can truly say this marked the beginning of a lifelong journey in the Hereford breed. Since then, I've returned year after year, growing from a little girl in the stalls to a competitor in the ring and leader among my peers. One standout memory was walking into the show ring for the first time with a heifer I had halter-broke myself—feeling the nerves, the pride, and the connection to my animal and the breed I love. Each show, contest, and leadership experience since has built on that foundation, but those early moments—surrounded by family, friends, and Herefords—will always be my favorite.

Can you tell our readers about some of the Hereford activities you are currently involved in?

I am currently honored to serve as the 2025 Tennessee Hereford Queen, a role that allows me to represent and promote the Hereford breed across the state and beyond. I also serve as President of the Tennessee Junior Hereford Association, where I help organize events, encourage member involvement, and support youth development within the breed. This year, I participated in the National Junior Hereford Expo (JNHE), where I competed in multiple contests. I've also attended leadership events such as Faces of Leadership, which furthered my knowledge of the industry and helped me build lifelong connections. Whether I'm in the show ring or helping plan association activities, I am always proud to be an advocate for the Hereford breed.

What are your future education and/or career plans?

My future plans include attending the University of Tennessee at Martin, where I will major in Agricultural Communications with a focus on Agricultural Law. My ultimate goal is to become an agriculture attorney, advocating for farmers and ranchers across rural America. Growing up as a fourth-generation Hereford breeder and being deeply involved in both 4-H and the Tennessee Junior Hereford Association has inspired me to pursue a career where I can give back to the agricultural industry. I am passionate about protecting the rights of agricultural producers and ensuring the future of family farms through clear communication and sound policy.

Tennessee Juniors "Live from Louisville" - 2025 JNHE Recap

—Sally Wingler, TJHA Advisor

As I reflect on the incredible week we spent at the 2025 Junior National Hereford Expo in Louisville, Kentucky, I'm reminded of my very first JNHE back in 1985. Decades later, the same electric energy, pride, and passion for the Hereford breed is alive and well—especially among our Tennessee juniors.

This year, 26 outstanding juniors traveled to Louisville to represent the Volunteer State on the national stage. For some, it was their first time; for others, it was another chapter in their growing journey with the Hereford breed. Either way, each one made Tennessee proud.

Our 2025 Tennessee JNHE exhibitors were: Edynne Bolte, Ella Callicott, Sarah Beth Callicott, Rhett Day, Luke Fisher, Josie Harville, Tana Harville, Turner Harville, Evan Jackson, Landon Mansfield, Logan Mansfield, Jackson Massey, Benton McClanahan, Braden McClanahan, Ellie Poarch, Maelee Poarch, Morgan Riley, Mary Carter Shirley, Tillman Staley, Ana Towns, Emmie White, Foster Wingler, Lauren Wingler, and Paislee Jane Young. (Although entered, Regan and Spencer Wright were unable to attend.)

Tennessee youth didn't just show cattle—they stepped into leadership roles, entered contests, and created lasting connections. Our juniors took part in speech contests, the judging contest, and showmanship, with several advancing to semi-final rounds. A special thanks goes to Ella Callicott and Mary Carter Shirley, who served as our state's voting delegates this year.

We're proud to recognize Paislee Jane Young, who earned Third Overall in Peewee Showmanship—a remarkable accomplishment that shows the bright future ahead for our youngest exhibitors. And a very special congratulations goes to Morgan Riley, who was honored as the 2025 Outstanding Tennessee Junior. Her leadership, character, and commitment to the Hereford breed continue to inspire those around her.

The Tennessee Junior Advisors and leadership team want to sincerely thank every participant for their dedication, hard work, and sportsmanship throughout the week. Your efforts reflect the strength and promise of the Hereford breed in Tennessee.

We'd also like to extend a deep and heartfelt thank you to our 2025 sponsors. Your generosity made it possible to feed and support our Tennessee delegation all week long. We are incredibly grateful for your support:

2025 Sponsors:

Burns Farm, C/N Cattle, Carter Cove Graphics, Cedar Forest Farm, Chapman Land and Cattle, Copeland Farms, Crooked Tree Cattle, DS Farm Supply, East Polled Hereford, Hereford Women of Tennessee, Hidden Acres Farm, Hopkins Ranch of Herefords, Hwy 129 Custom Designs, Lewisburg Farm Center, MCS, Middle Tennessee Hereford Association, Performance Feeds, Poarch Construction, Ridge Top Farm, Ronald Baker, Rutherford Farmers Coop, Tennessee Cattlemen's Association, Tennessee Hereford Association, The Howling Coyote, United Farm and Home, Warren Fencing, and Webster Polled Herefords.

Thank you for investing in our juniors. Your support fuels their dreams and makes unforgettable experiences like JNHE possible.

The week kicked off Sunday evening with Opening Ceremonies, followed by the Queen's Tea and judging contest on Monday. Tuesday's showmanship classes were full of excitement as several Tennessee exhibitors advanced to the semifinal rounds.

A proud highlight of the week was the nomination of Foster Wingler for the 2025 JNHE Herdsman of the Year—an honor that reflects his dedication and leadership in the barn. We were also thrilled to have Lauren Wingler representing Tennessee with excellence and grace as the 2025 Tennessee Hereford Queen.

The rest of the week was filled with action as juniors took to the showing with steers, bulls, and heifers in both Bred & Owned and Owned divisions. Tennessee exhibitors once again held their own, showcasing high-quality cattle and earning well-deserved recognition across the board.

As the curtains close on an unforgettable week in Louisville, we're already setting our sights on next year. We hope to see everyone July 4–11, 2026, in Madison, Wisconsin for another incredible Junior National Hereford Expo. Until then, thank you to our exhibitors, families, sponsors, and supporters for making 2025 one to remember.

Churchill Advance 248K is a total performance bull. He has put his stamp on his first calf crop. The heifer calves are especially impressive. He is sired by the 0159H Holden bull and out of a 13-year-old cow who is still paying her way for Churchill!

JC Star Domino M8086 206K has the best combination of phenotype and EPD profile that we have ever produced. Top 20% on 10 traits. Top 1% CHB and marbling. He is a performance bull that can be used on heifers. His first calf crop looks promising here and he will have calves born this year at Olsen's in the National Reference Sire Program (NRSP).
