"Farming the same land since 1834"

A Word from our President

by Zachary Hopkins, DVM, Tennessee Hereford Association President

Before I sat down to write my final remarks for the 2023-24 presidency I thought about all that has occurred within this last year. A fall drought, a Tennessee winter “blizzard”, record cattle prices, political instability, and unsure interest rates. Despite all this the cattleman wakes up each morning to care for the needs of their livestock and family. One thing that sets us apart as who we are and what we do is the connection we have with the land we care for and the lives we are entrusted with by our creator. Despite financial strains, weather extremes, political chaos, or unforeseen tragedy we are expected to push on through life’s challenges and persevere.

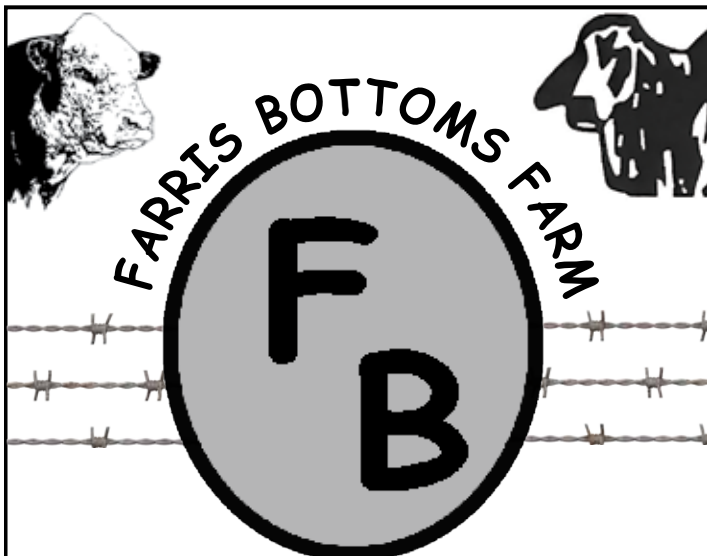

The night I was nominated and voted in as the Tennessee Hereford President was a night full of excitement, anxiety, and fear. I felt unprepared, unsure, and inadequate to lead an organization of this size and magnitude. Soon into talking with others, delegating responsibilities, and looking at the years agenda I knew that the responsibility may have fallen on me but that I was blessed with eager and talented individuals who were more than willing to help, pitch in, and accomplish the tasks at hand. Falling in behind a leader such as Sally Wingler is an intimidating thing as she is well accomplished, talented, and successful. Without her advice and help throughout the year I would have been lost so thank you Sally. A major heartfelt thank you goes to Kay Coley. She was always a phone call away and provided the motivation, encouragement, and help whenever I needed it. Kay is a true treasure to this association. Glenda Rickman is another that comes to mind as someone who everyone knows and thanks a lot of. She has always given her best and a true joy to work with. I really appreciate her dedication to the association all these years. A major thanks goes to the board as they always showed up when called upon or a challenge arose. Whether it be the state show, Hereford Influence feeder calf sales, audit committee, agribition committee, or simple financial decisions they were there to get it done.

I congratulate Meredith Collins in being selected as the new president. I have full faith that she will continue and far excel where I left off. I wish you the best and hope you know that I am there to help in any way that I can! I feel that our association is at the cusp of growth and that it is up to us as leaders and members to take it to the next level. We as a state have gained national recognition over the years and I fully expect this to remain the case.

As I draw to an end I am pleased. When I think Hereford, I think family. Many of you know how much you mean to me and my family. Many of y’all I consider personal friends, confidants, advisers, and family. Whether it be Kim and Tommy Coley who introduced me to my beautiful bride Sarah or Kay Bartley who whipped me into shape to apply for vet school I am indebted to many. Some of my fondest memories as a child and adult involve Hereford cattle. I expect that to remain the same as Sarah and I start our family and the next generation of Hopkins carry on the Hopkins name and passion. This has been without a doubt an honor and I hope everyone knows that I tried my hardest and always made decisions and actions that would benefit the association. May God continue to bless you and as always, I am open to serve you.

Thank You Zachary for your service to the Tennessee Hereford Association. Your dedication to the organization and efforts to promote the Hereford industry have been greatly appreciated.

THA Annual Meeting Report

by Kathryn Ingram

The 2023 Tennessee Hereford Annual meeting was held in Lebanon, Tennessee at the Wilson county fair grounds on March 8, 2024. THA President, Zachary Hopkins welcomed everyone.

The family of the year award is always a highlight of the meeting. Stan Webster came forward to give the introduction and present the award to Sally Wingler and family.

Sally grew up in the Hereford industry and has dedicated much of her adult life to promoting the Hereford breed. She has been involved in all aspects of the Tennessee Hereford Association, has served as a board member for the National Junior Polled Hereford Association, and currently serves as the American Hereford Women President. We will learn more about the Winglers in the August issue.

Annual reports were given for the Tennessee Junior Hereford Association, the Tennessee Hereford Marketing Program, the State Hereford Show, and the Tennessee Newsletter. Tommy Coley gave an update of AHA news. A sale preview was given from the sale manager, Bobby Singleton.

The Hereford Women of Tennessee made several presentations. Allie Harrison received the Hereford Women Scholarship. Outgoing THA Queen Madison Maupin was presented with a plaque of appreciation.

Josh Mansfield and Richard Brown spoke about the Tennessee Hereford Marketing Program. They announced their will be an additional summer sale added on July 10, 2024. It was also noted that a group of steers from the Fall sale were the only ones that did not go off feed this January after a major snowstorm.

Two directors rotated off the board this year. Bob Coley, and Zachary Hopkins had fulfilled two full terms on the committee and were not eligible for re-election. The election determined that the following were elected as directors to serve three-year terms:

Claude Callicott - Claude lives in Only, Tennessee where he and his family row crop and raise Herefords. He also owns a crop insurance agency. He and his family are active in the junior show circuit.

Meredith Collins - Meredith grew up showing Hereford and Angus cattle at the national level. She is currently the Marshall County Schools Special Populations supervisor and serves as the administrative coordinator for Ag Sale Day. Meredith and her husband Matt, currently serve as TJHA advisors, where their son Mason is an active member.

Mike Rogan - Mike co-owns and operates Rogan Herefords where he has been raising purebred Hereford for many years. He is dedicated to supporting and promoting the Hereford breed.

Sally Wingler - Sally is the current office manager for the Tennessee Cattlemen's Association and President of the American Hereford Women. She and her husband Russ operate a small cow-calf operation in Christiana.

The following were elected as THA Officers later that evening: Meredith Collins, President, Josh Mansfield, Vice-President, Kay Coley Treasurer, Glenda Rickman, Secretary.

Being Involved is the Name of the Game!

by Sally Wingler, TJHA Advisor

The Tennessee Junior Hereford Association had an outstanding representation at the 2024 Ag Day on the Hill at the Tennessee Capitol held on March 9th. The event was hosted by The Farm and Forrest Families of Tennessee. It was a cold day on Capitol Hill with Governor Bill Lee, State Leaders, and citizens celebrating Agriculture Day in Tennessee. The event took place at the Cordell Hull State Office Building, Downtown Nashville. The event had lots of livestock and agricultural exhibits on display as well as interactive activities.

As we all know Tennessee's top industry, contributing more than $89 billion a year to the state's economy and accounting for more than 342,000 jobs. Tennessee had approximately 63,100 farms representing 10.7 million acres, as well as 14 million acres of forestland.

So, with this I say I am so proud of our Hereford juniors being involved in this special event to honor Agriculture in the state of Tennessee.

Ella Callicott had the honor of bringing her Hereford heifer for all the leaders to see. Ella was able to tell the leadership about the Hereford breed and her farm River Bend Farm in Only, Tennessee.

Ag Day on the Hill was also a day of recognition for National Livestock Achievement Honorees. Tennessee was honored to have approximately 20 National-winning livestock exhibitors and junior leaders of various species and junior livestock organizations. The state of Tennessee is proud of the commitment and hard work that goes into being successful at national junior shows and youth livestock events across the country.

The Tennessee Junior Hereford Association was represented by Morgan Riley and Foster Wingler for their achievements on the national level.

The Tennessee Youth Ambassadors also helped with the Ag Day on the Hill with Lauren Wingler and Evan Jackson, both of whom are Tennessee Junior Herefords members. They were both involved with the behind the scenes work to prepare for the Leaders.

The day concluded with the recognition of the group in the House and Natural Resource subcommittee meeting.
